Martha Miller & the Jitterbugs offer you a journey into the nightlife of the 1940s. No matter whether they play as a trio or a quartet - when they start to swing, people start to dance. Their repertoire ranges from slow, romantic songs to the fast, powerful songs all swing dancers love. After all: swing music is the music of the time - and that is exactly what you get when you listen to Martha Miller & the Jitterbugs and what you can expect when you book them for your event..

Martha Miller & the Jitterbugs is a band that consists of experienced musicians - some of which have been playing swing and jazz music for over 35 years. Therefore, they are more than your average band - they are professionals with a female singer with a voice that perfectly fits the sound of the instruments. Small combos like this could be found in many jazz clubs of the United States and Europe from the late 1920s through the wartime and all the way to today. So if you book Martha Miller & the Jitterbugs, you will be a part of this elite groups of event organizers who back then started the jazz craze and today work hard to keep it alive!
